Building a Plastic-Free Future - Responsibly

Compostable and Biodegradable Products

The ever-increasing use of plastic is silently damaging our environment and threatening the future of generations to come. While its harmful impact is widely known, the lack of reliable and compliant alternatives has forced continued dependence on plastic in everyday life.

With a shared sense of responsibility toward the planet, NAAMCOS and SAKRT have come together to offer a meaningful and scalable solution. Through this partnership, we introduce plastic-free bags, containers, and medical-use products designed to replace conventional plastics without compromising on quality, safety, or convenience.

Thoughtfully engineered and built to meet real-world demands, our compostable products protect nature while supporting healthier lifestyles. They are not merely alternatives - they represent a conscious, future-ready choice for the Earth.

We invite institutions, businesses, and communities to stand with us on this journey - toward a plastic-free, sustainable future.

Our Mission (NAAMCOS x SAKRT)

To eliminate plastic dependency by delivering certified compostable alternatives that combine performance, safety, and environmental responsibility - enabling a smooth transition toward sustainable consumption across industries.
